Motor Yacht S531 and Superyacht S532 – Two Exciting New Projects unveiled by Tankoa

December 01, 2015

Genoa-based shipyard, Tankoa, has proudly unveiled two exciting new projects: motor yacht S531 and superyacht S532. Designed by multi-award winning Francesco Paszkowski, luxury yacht S531 was officially presented at this year's Monaco Yacht Show and Fort Lauderdale International Boat Show. The main idea behind this striking new concept is to offer the amenities of a much larger yacht in a reasonably sized package.

The ground-breaking 53-metre superyacht S531 by Tankoa makes it possible to continuously change look by uniting and dividing both internal and external volumes by large use of glass windows. She boasts fantastic layouts for a yacht of her size with oversized glass windows on both main as well as upper decks.

The entire wide body section of the main deck of super yacht S531 hosts the VIP and the owner's suite. This later is equipped with sides fold out terraces. The lower deck aft offers three VIP suites and one guest cabin. The fore part of this deck features crew quarters, LY3 compliant, with their own galley, crew mess/rest room and 5 cabins for 10 crew members, the captain's cabin being adjacent to the wheelhouse.

Aft of the engine room is the tender garage and the beach club. The fore part of the upper deck hosts the wheelhouse with owner's sofa, radio room and captain's cabin. The central part shares the space between the day head, pantry, and rear stairwell while the aft part, fully glassed with floor to ceiling windows is equipped with panoramic saloon and dining area for 12 guests. There is also an amazingly generous fly-bridge, offering approximately 160 square meters of livable surface and can be designed according to client's wildest dreams.

Tankoa yacht S531 is ready to start construction. Delivery time is set at 26 months from contract.

Another exciting new project unveiled by Tankoa represents the 53-metre super yacht S532, based on the same platform as the S531 yacht. The main advantage of this striking project is lower building time, lower maintenance and lower running costs without sacrificing freedom and space on board.

The amazingly generous main deck of luxury yacht S532 by Tankoa hosts a reception area/saloon, two master suites and a VIP suite with oversized windows and two fold out terraces in the fore master suite. This configuration allows for three suites with amazing levels of quietness. The lower deck features large crew quarters, galley and mess. Its aft section is devoted to two guest cabins and a gym or a third guest suite.

The tender bay aboard S532 yacht can be found aft of the engine room and will be converted in a beach club when the tender has been launched. The upper deck offers the same wheelhouse as S531, but the aft section is devoted to a panoramic saloon and dining room surrounded by floor to ceiling windows.

The outdoor deck aft offers an exterior dining and a wrap-around sofa for 16 people. The fore deck is equipped with the same lounges and sun-pad as on S531. On the fly-bridge, the standard offering is made of a huge sun-pad aft, a saloon protected by the hard top, dining area, day head and shower on each side while the bar and swimming pool are installed to fore. Again, this is a layout proposal that can be amended to client's wishes.
