Genoa-based shipyard, Tankoa, presented their exciting new project, motor yacht S531 which is designed by multi-award winning Francesco Paszkowski. The main idea behind this striking new concept is to offer the amenities of a much larger yacht in a reasonably sized package. Luxury yacht S531 was officially presented at this year's Monaco Yacht Show and Fort Lauderdale International Boat Show.

The ground-breaking 53-metre superyacht S531 by Tankoa makes it possible to continuously change look by uniting and dividing both internal and external volumes by large use of glass windows. She boasts fantastic layouts for a yacht of her size with oversized glass windows on both main as well as upper decks. The entire wide body section of the main deck of super yacht S531 hosts the VIP and the owner's suite. This later is equipped with sides fold out terraces. The lower deck aft offers three VIP suites and one guest cabin. The fore part of this deck features crew quarters, LY3 compliant, with their own galley, crew mess/rest room and 5 cabins for 10 crew members, the captain's cabin being adjacent to the wheelhouse.

Aft of the engine room is the tender garage and the beach club. The fore part of the upper deck hosts the wheelhouse with owner's sofa, radio room and captain's cabin. The central part shares the space between the day head, pantry, and crew stairwell while the aft part, fully glassed with floor to ceiling windows is equipped with panoramic saloon and dining area for 12 guests. There is also an amazingly generous fly-bridge, offering approximately 160 square meters of livable surface and can be designed according to client's wildest dreams. Tankoa yacht S531 is ready to start construction. Delivery time is set at 26 months from contract.
